

Anti-Colonial Research

Deep into root causes

Asks questions about the oppressive protocols that disenfranchise native community. Aims to restore justice to those communities.

Assume one is doing colonizing research if using health science framework, and then admitting ways that is true and how one is continuing that.

Undoing systemic scientific solonialization by addressing rights to access, power, while upholding Tribal sovereignty, protocols, cultural expectations and values.

De-centering white europeans in how importance of theory is in model-building upholds & honors Indigenous experiences, orthologies, pedagogies

OVERCOMING OPPRESSION VIA ERASURE

Centers need, not research for the sake of collecting/owning information is rooted in good relationships & relationality pay communities for their contribution to research recognizes & indicts the actions of our present history

NOT EXPLOITIVE BUT INVESTED & RESPECTFUL

the research that supports the opposition to colonial rule or the presence of global north entities in the global south transnational spiritive & emotional health indications must be acknowledged

Inquiry that centers the voices, experiences, needs/concerns of populations that have been marginalized by various forms of imperialist violence.

Focus on sovereignty data/ownership

Anti colonial research addresses colonial power structures and breaks down long-standing systemic inequities

is not owned recognizes that we may be part of the problem. Own that "Maybe I am part of the problem, and then could be part of fixing it".

embraces practices we've always engaged in examining something or someone to gather information value of storytelling and elder wisdom. More holistic view of wellness beyond human-centric
